Fitzsimmons Colt Jumps Into Lead and Outruns High-Priced Hildreth Horse in Winning Babylon Handicap Over Rain-Soaked Aqueduct Track

By W. J. Macbeth

"Buddy" Ensor won three races at Aqueduct yesterday afternoon, but fell down on his chief assignment. He had the leg up on Sam Hildreth's Grey Lag, the odds-on favorite of the Babylon Handicap, with which will participate in the Lesley Cup list is already large and hardly a first $3,500 added, at six furlongs, the two-year-old feature of the afternoon, but had to be contented with third money in this star event.

The Babyion Handicap was won by the Quincy Stable's Knosbie, a colt that did honor to his sire, Wrack, by greelling in the particularly sloppy going. And the going was sloppy enough to suit the taste of the most fastidiate.

Shortly before this feature race the heavy fog that had hung over the land-scape condensed and precipitated one of the liveliest showers of the season. As the field of four juveniles paraded to the post the water was falling in heats. Washed out colors could scarcely be distinguished as far as the track. And then, as shruptly as it had started, the rain stopped. The track, however, was a sea of mud and water throughout the rest of the aftermoon. Chop Price on Grey Lag

But when Mooney straightened for the run home it was soon apparent that it was all over. He came away when he pleased to win by a half dozen lengths. Queereek quit at the end of five furlongs, which enabled Grey Lag to get into the money eventually. Mulciber held the place safe throughout the stretch. Two in Row for Ensor

New York golfers, that is the team Club, will go to Philadelphia to-morrow hopeful, rather quite confident, of hands could make him and was ready to repeat his late success over Grey Lag.

When it came to racing there was sothing to it but Knobbie. He was right at home in the slop, shot to the front with the rising of the webbing and was saver headed. Mooney was very much alive with this good thing, too. He was sawy on his toes, beat the gate a length or two and never left the race is doubt.

Grey Lag didn't seem to like the goding very well. He was sluggish getting away, despite the frantic efforts of Ensor to drive him along, and from start to last was badly outrun. He trailed the small field, indeed, until well into the stretch.

Once with the track at its command Mooney rode a very intelligent race. Coming round the turn he was ralm and collected, and gave his mount a good breather. He picked the best possible footing some distance out from the rail. Mulciber and Quecreek meanwhile had moved up dangerously eless to the pacemaker.
